Sustainability in Action

Badger's Organic Extra Virgin Olive Oil comes from a family owned estate in southern Spain called Soler Romero, whose rich olive history dates back to 1850. Like Badger, they are known just as much for their environmentally friendly philosophies as they are for their high quality products.

Depending on the month of harvest, the color of this olive oil can be a lovely translucent green or a warm, rich, golden-yellow. (This also explains the variance in color in Badger's balms.) The best part about Soler Romero is that, like a fine winery, their mill is located right on the estate – this means that their olives are processed within 2 hours of being harvested! To top it all off, they have a very impressive composting system, producing their own natural, organic fertilizer from the byproducts of harvesting and pressing (branches, leaves, and olive pulp). This closes the production circle by recycling all byproducts and increasing biodiversity – all while covering the fertilizing needs of their olives.

Badger uses over 10,000 gallons of Soler Romero USDA Certified Organic Extra Virgin Olive Oil per year! We use it in our balms, our oils, in our kitchen (Betsi uses the very same oil to cook our organic lunches), and many Badgers purchase the olive oil to use in their own kitchens at home. This past December, Chris and Rebecca visited Soler Romero for an olive harvest.

We're proud of our connection to our suppliers, and for their commitment to the environment in everything they do. And of course, we're proud to say that our balms contain the very same olive oil that is chosen by Michelin Star-awarded chefs in France and Spain.

“As a professional mountain biker, it’s my job to ride as hard as I can. Badger helps me do this by relaxing my muscles before and after a long day of digging and riding, and moisturizing my skin after braving the elements. Plus, they give back to the local community and support the environment, which are two values I also share. Go Badger!”

Mimosa - Sandboarding in Moreton Island, Australia

Badger Balm helps me walk the healthy trail by making me feel good both inside and out. From Cuticle Care and Badger Balm to keep my skin smooth, to relaxing nightly Sleep Balm, or Aromatic Chest Rub when I’m sick. Then there is Anti-Bug Balm when I’m out and about exploring, followed by Muscle Rub when I get home. Then after I’ve used them I look at the Badger art and imagine the Badger mines and I smile.

Cuticle Care

2oz Tin

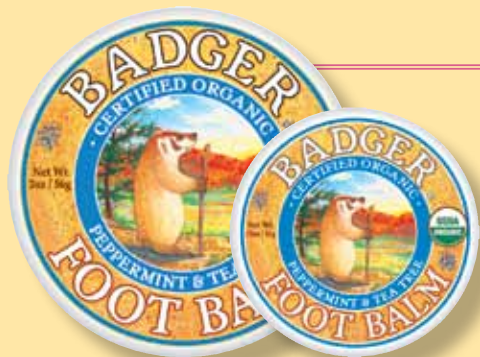

.75oz Tin

Badgers know how to dig the Earth, and also what a toll that can take on cuticles – that’s why this is one of our favorite balms. Soothing Shea Butter helps mend and protect dry, splitting cuticles, while the fragrance of pure steam-distilled essential oils pleases the senses. Use regularly and expect results!
Note: Naturally occurring beads of Shea Butter may rise to the surface.

*Butyrspermum Parkii (Shea) Butter, *Olea Europaea (Extra Virgin Olive) Oil, *Ricinus Communis (Castor) Oil, *Cera Alba (Beeswax), Essential Oils of *Pelargonium Graveolens (Geranium), *Citrus Nobilis (Mandarin), *Cymbopogon Schoenanthus (Lemongrass), *Elettaria Cardamomum (Cardamom), *Rosmarinus Officinalis (Rosemary Verbena), *Litsea Cubeba (Litsea), and CO₂ Extracts of *Hippophae Rhamnoides (Seabuckthorn) and *Zingiber Officinale (Ginger).
